

Skillsbootcamp 2nd December 2020

8:30 AM – MIDDAY – Powerful presenting

Summary:

This half day session is highly motivational and interactive, it is suitable for managers, senior leaders and directors.

We will focus on how to plan and deliver powerful and engaging talks, speeches and seminars. Together we will explore how to plan your session using the psychology of engagement, tips for PowerPoint and lessons from Ted. We will identify your blind spots, tells and give advice on pitch, pace, posture, pauses and the power of three.

Key learning :

- Developing a presentation using the 4Mat Method;
- Pitch, pace and posture and the power of three - how to engage and inspire;
- The perils of PowerPoint and how to avoid them;
- Troubleshooting and managing issues, including stress;
- Lessons from TED and other research articles that can help.

It would suit:

Anyone who needs to make a presentation, tender, train or impact others. From CEO to leaders who present, budding entrepreneurs and those start up's that need to present to stakeholders. Trainers to team leaders all can benefit from these practical, simple tools.
